

Values, Mission and Strategy

About us

London Gynaecology is a leading private gynaecology, fertility and pregnancy care practice providing daily clinics from our two central London clinic locations, The Portland Hospital and Austin Friars, in the City of London.

Ethos

To give expert advice and care and to always be accessible at the entire stage of the patient pathway. We are committed to ensuring that our service matches the needs of our patients.

Our Mission

To provide high quality personalised healthcare at every stage of the patient pathway, ensuring the best possible outcomes for our patients relating to their gynaecological and reproductive health.

To provide a safe framework for doctors to deliver expert care, using state-of-the-art medical equipment and facilities.

Our Values

Honesty, dignity and respect: We treat every patient and colleagues with honesty and integrity and as an equal with dignity and respect. We are a family, the wellbeing of our staff is paramount and we treat each other with respect and kindness.

Services that meet the patients' need: We aim to provide the highest quality of patient care and provide services that meet the needs of today's modern patient.

Access and Accessibility: We focus on open access and accessibility with daily clinics, morning, afternoon, evening and weekend to ensure that patients can visit us when is convenient and also having last minute urgent appointments for patients with an immediate need. We also offer 24/7 phone lines.

Transparent pricing: We understand that pricing and cost is an important consideration, especially for self pay patients and have created many self-pay packages to provide transparent pricing, these are visible on our website.

Robust, safe processes and policies: Our service is underpinned by a suite of policies that inform and guide every member of the practice. We also develop standard operating procedures to ensure a consistent way of working.

Innovation: We believe in using the latest evidence and technology to deliver first class patient care. We use state-of-the-art scanning and diagnostic equipment across our two outpatient clinics to ensure high-quality care and results. Remote consultations can be offered (where suitable) to patients who would prefer not to travel into London, ensuring that our services are accessible and available to patients when they need us.
